

Deputy Principal Emmanuel Anglican College

Transforming education, one leader at a time

Emmanuel Anglican College, located in the picturesque Northern Rivers region of NSW, has a rich history of growth and development since its establishment in 1998. What began with just 16 students has flourished into a thriving educational community serving over 950 students from diverse backgrounds, spanning from Pre-school to Year 12.

Renowned for its academic excellence, the college consistently performs at the highest level in external assessments and competitions, reflecting its commitment to providing a high-quality education. However, what truly sets Emmanuel Anglican College apart is its emphasis on pastoral care and personalised attention.

The role of Deputy Principal is a key member of the College's Executive with responsibility for leading innovative, student-centred learning and teaching across the College. Together with the Principal, they are responsible for the leadership and effective administration of the College. This position requires critical thinking, a continual improvement mindset and the ability to inspire and motivate others.
